WATER CONDITIONING AND DRIFT CONTROL AGENT

SmartLine™ AMS MAXX™ contains water conditioning properties and a homogenized deposition agent designed to improve the precision of spray applications and reduce off-target drift. It is suitable for use on both conventional and transgenic crop varieties.

When used at labeled rates, SmartLine AMS MAXX will automatically optimize the angle of the spray pattern, as the spray exits the nozzle, to give maximum coverage of target surfaces while minimizing “pattern fringe” which contains the most driftable particles.

SmartLine AMS MAXX is intended for use as a tank-mix adjuvant where a deposition or drift control agent is required or recommended.

SmartLine AMS MAXX technology has been proven to increase glyphosate activity. This product also contains emollients which may improve absorption of herbicides into leaf surfaces.

SmartLine AMS MAXX also contains buffering and sequestering agents to adjust pH to a neutral range.

SmartLine AMS MAXX may be used when the pesticide label recommends the use of a deposition aid or drift control agent. It is not intended as substitute for surfactants or crop oil concentrates.
